

RAVAGES OF OSTEOPOROSIS The hip in the left panel is normal, with excellent bone density and structure. By comparison, the hip in the right panel is severely osteoporotic, with marked reductions in these and other determinants of healthy bone. This patient with glucocorticoid-induced osteoporosis also suffers from avascular necrosis, a disease that destroys the vitality and shape of the femoral head.

